VOL. LI., No. 10.

NEW YORK, March 6, 1897.

WHOLE No. 1310

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

MEMOIRS OF MARSHAL OUDINOT,

Duc de Reggio. Compiled from the hitherto unpublished souvenirs of the Duchesse de Reggio by GASTON STIEGLER, and now first translated into English by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos. With two portraits in heliogravure. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

The marshal's wife was much with her husband in the field, accompanying him, for instance, during the retreat from Moscow. Of that she gives a very graphic description; and, indeed, she draws vivid pictures of all that stirring epoch. The book takes in the Revolution, the Directory, Napoleon's ascendancy, the Restoration, and comes up to about 1830. It has photographs of the marshal and his wife, who in the end, of course, threw in their lot with the Bourbons.

THE STORY OF THE BIRDS.

By JAMES NEWTON BASKETT, M.A., Associate Member of the American Ornithologists' Union. The first volume in "Appletons' Home-Reading Books" Series. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 65 cents, net.

The aim of this book is to present in a rather unusual yet popular way "The Story of the Birds," with the more striking scientific features of their probable development. In interesting rather than instructing, in guiding the observation of the inexperienced into proper channels, in suggesting slightly to the student what to look for among the birds, and what to do with a fact when found, is its proper mission.

THE PLANT WORLD.

A Reading-Book of Botany. Edited by FRANK VINCENT, author of "Actual Africa," etc. The second volume in "Appletons' Home-Reading Book" Series. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 60 cents, net.

Botany is one of the most fascinating and instructive fields of study in the whole range of science, and no subject is better adapted to develop the mind and cultivate the observing powers. In this volume the endeavor has been to bring together such extracts, poetry as well as prose, from the best writings on the subject as will secure the lively interest that comes from broad and characteristic treatment.

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT AND SCHOOL METHODS.

By Dr. J. BALDWIN, Professor of Pedagogy in the University of Texas; author of "Elementary Psychology and Education" and "Psychology Applied to the Art of Teaching." Vol. XL, International Education Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This is eminently an every-day working book for teachers; practical, suggestive, inspiring. It presents clearly the best things achieved and points the way to better things. School organization, school control, and school methods are studied anew from the standpoint of pupil betterment. The teacher is led to create the ideal school, embodying all that is best in school work, and stimulated to endeavor earnestly to realize the ideal.

FROEBEL'S EDUCATIONAL LAWS FOR ALL TEACHERS.

By JAMES L. HUGHES, Inspector of Schools, Toronto. Vol. XLI, International Education Series. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The aim of this book is to give a simple exposition of the most important principles of Froebel's educational philosophy, and to make suggestions regarding the application of these principles to the work in the school-room in teaching and training.

A PINCHBECK GODDESS.

By Mrs. J. M. FLEMING (Alice M. Kipling). No. 211, Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

In this entertaining story of social life in India the author has developed a novel idea which is worked out with much humor and ingenuity, and in a thoroughly sympathetic manner. The story is bright and interesting, and full of local color and happy characterization. This book introduces a new writer, who will make her place without any indebtedness to her distinguished brother.

For sale by all booksellers; or will be sent by mail on receipt of price by the publishers,

D. APPLETON & CO., - 72 Fifth Avenue, New York.

FRANCIS P. HARPER'S

New and Recent Publications

New Light on the Early History of the Greater Northwest

By PROF. ELLIOTT COUES. Being important and hitherto unpublished Journals of ALEXANDER HENRY (the younger), Fur Trader of the Northwest Company, and DAVID THOMPSON, Official Geographer and Explorer of the same Company, 1799-1814. A vivid picture of Daily Frontier Life on the Red, Saskatchewan and Columbia Rivers, the whole edited with copious Historical, Ethnological and Geographical notes by Dr. Elliott Coues.

To be published this spring, uniform with "Pike" and "Lewis and Clark." 3 vols, 8vo, $10 net. Large paper, $20 net. Send for complete prospectus. The entire edition will be limited and subscriptions will be entered in the order in which they are received. Orders received by all booksellers.

Dr. Coues says of this work:—"No work approaching these Journals in the scope, extent, variety and interest of its contents has appeared since the publication in 1801 of Sir Alexander Mackenzie's memorable Voyages, the present work will undoubtedly take rank with that classic as a veritable mine of accurate information."

Walt Whitman, the Man

A very important volume of personal reminiscences

By THOMAS DONALDSON. Illustrated by 13 portraits, fac-similes of rare documents, letters and manuscripts. Beautifully printed on fine deckel-edge paper and bound in red buckram, gilt, gilt top, post 8vo, 300 pages $1.75

This volume will give the admirers of Mr. Whitman an entirely new view of the poet. Walt Whitman, the author, has been done and doubly done, while Walt Whitman, the man, appears to have been almost entirely overlooked.

"Mr. Donaldson's book will help Whitmanites to an almost personal familiarity with this poet. * * * The book is written wisely and well."—The Dial.

"It contains precisely the material for want of which the world has to live in ignorance of its 'immortals.'"—Twentieth Century.

The Sale Prices of 1896

An Annual Report of (English) Sales by Auction of Pictures, Drawings, Manuscripts, Autographs, Relics, Coins, Prints, Pottery and other Objects of Artistic and Antiquarian interest. Edited by J. Herbert Slater, editor of "Book Prices Current." 8vo, cloth. [In Press.]

Was General Thomas Slow at Nashville?

With a description of the Greatest Cavalry Movement of the War, and General James H. Wilson's Cavalry Operations in Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. By General HENRY V. BOYNTON. 12mo, cloth, uncut, 95 pages. Edition limited to 450 copies, printed on hand-made paper. . . . $1.25 net

One of the most brilliant chapters in our war history—in fact in the history of cavalry in any war—and but little known to the general reader.

Rainy Days in a Library

(Being chapters on out-of-the-way and rare books of the past, with curious and humorous quotations from them). By SIR HERBERT MAXWELL. Handsomely printed on fine English deckel edge book paper. 12mo, cloth, uncut, $1.50

The thirteen chapters represent so many rainy days, each of which the author spends in the library of an old English country house. As he looks over old books, he gossips on them, their authors and contemporaries, and gives many curious and humorous quotations from their pages.

Expeditions of Zebulon M. Pike

To the Headwaters of the Mississippi River, the Interior Parts of Louisiana, Mexico and Texas, in the years of 1805-6-7. Reprinted in full from the original Philadelphia edition of 1810. With copious explanatory geographical and scientific notes, a new Memoir of Pike and an index to the whole. By PROF. ELLIOTT COUES, A.M., M.D., Ph.D. Edition limited to 150 copies, on hand-made paper, $20.00 net per set; 1,000 copies on fine book paper, 8vo, $10.00 net per set.

For sale by all booksellers.

Li varies and small collections of books purchased for cash.

FRANCIS P. HARPER, 17 East 16th Street, New York

NOTES IN SEASON.

GINN & Co. will publish shortly in their International Modern Language Series "La Pierre de Touche," by Emile Augier, edited by Prof. George M. Harper, of Princeton.

EDWARD ARNOLD, New York, has just ready "Through Unknown African Countries—the first expedition from Somaliland to Lake Rudolf and Lamu," by A. Donaldson Smith, M.D., with nearly thirty full-page plates and other illustrations, and five original maps, with a full index. The author is an American.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY having caught the attention of "the jolly sailor man," and all who love the sea, by publishing "On Many Seas," chooses this favorable moment to issue a book of short stories entitled "The Port of Missing Ships, and other stories of the sea." "A Manual on Coach-Building" is the latest addition to the series of Technical Handbooks which The Macmillan Company is publishing under the general editorship of Sir H. Truman Wood. It is written by John Philipson, formerly president of the Institute of British Carriage Manufacturers, who has been engaged in the craft of coach-building nearly half a century.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will publish at once a volume of historical-biographical lectures under the title "Southern Statesmen of the Old Régime," by Professor William Trent, of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee. These lectures were given before large and enthusiastic audiences at the University of Wisconsin, and have been several times repeated. They treat in a judicial manner, but at the same time with a vivid and charming style, of the political conditions which attended the career of Washington, Jefferson, Randolph, Calhoun, Stephens, Toombs, and Davis.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 19th inst. Nansen's book "Farthest North," which promises to be the publishing event of the year. The work will record the voyage of the ship Fram during the three years 1893–1896, and the fifteen months' sleigh expedition by Dr Nansen and Lieut. Johansen. The text has been written by Dr. Nansen, and is illustrated by 120 full-page and numerous text illustrations, 16 colored plates, in fac-simile, from Dr. Nansen's own water-color, pastel, and pencil sketches, an etched portrait, 2 photogravures, and 4 maps. An appendix to the work has been prepared by Otto Sverdrup, captain of the Fram. The work will be in two octavo volumes of between 600 and 700 pages each.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "Robert the Bruce, and the struggle for Scottish independence," by Sir Herbert Maxwell, which forms volume 19 in the Heroes of the Nations Series; "Hypnotism, and its application to practical medicine," by Otto Georg Wetterstrand, an authorized translation from the German, together with medical letters on hypno-suggestion, etc., by Henrick G. Petersen; also, the last half-yearly part of "Braithwaite's Retrospect." Publication of the volume entitled "The God-Idea of the Ancients, or, sex in religion," by Mrs. Eliza Burt Gamble, author of "The Evolution of Woman," has been delayed. It is a brief outline of religious growth and exposition of the effect which each of the two forces—female and male—has had upon the development of our present God-idea.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready "A History of China," made up of the historical chapters from "The Middle Kingdom," by the late S. Wells Williams, with a concluding chapter narrating recent events by Frederick Wells Williams, instructor in oriental history in Yale University; "Louis Napoleon and Mademoiselle de Montijo," in which Imbert de Saint-Amand begins a series of works on the women of the Second Empire, this volume taking Napoleon and Eugénie to their wedding-day; and the fourth volume of the American History Series dealing with "The Middle Period, 1817–1859," by John W. Burgess, of Columbia University. A bright book of good-natured observation is "America and the Americans," which gives out to be translated from the French, in which the anonymous author confides that he is a descendant of Lafayette, and that he bases his knowledge on two pleasant visits to America.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The work is written from the judicial standpoint of the constitutional lawyer rather than that of the politician or the philanthropist. It is not only written exclusively from the sources, but the view it takes of the great slavery controversy, of which it is at once the chronicle and commentary, distinguishes it among the histories of the period for its impartiality and its clear appreciation of the motives and conduct of both sides. Prof. Burgess is professor of history, political science, and constitutional law in Columbia University. Contains "a list of good books recommended to the general reader, which treat of, or touch upon, the subjects considered." (6 p.)

A story of India and the Anglo-Indian colony of Simla, by a sister of Rudyard Kipling, to whom the book is dedicated. A pretty love-story is evolved out of unusual conditions, the interest in which would be spoiled if the plot was described. The writer shows herself perfectly familiar with English life and character as found in India.

- A story of Ireland, in which at least half of the characters are English. "Kitty the rag" is a beautiful but dirty and ragged child living with her adopted mother, Biddy Maguire. The mystery of her birth is brought out in the story, and it is discovered that she is an illegitimate child; for a long time her true parentage is withheld, being a great surprise when finally revealed. The story is one of love and sin, remorse and expiation. Its scenes are taken from the Irish hovel and the luxurious home of the English landowner occasionally visiting Ireland.

- With this volume Imbert de Saint-Amand begins an elaborate study of the history of France during the reign of Napoleon III. The development of this interesting character is shown from the days of his early childhood, through his varied experiences in Italy, Switzerland, England, and America, his fiascos of Strasburg and Boulogne, his long imprisonment at and escape from the fortress of Ham, his election to the Chamber of Deputies, to the presidency of the Republic, and finally the coup-d'état and the proclamation anew of the empire. The picture, too, of the true Empress Eugénie in her early years, and the story of her romantic elevation to the throne of France, is painted in lively colors.

N. Y., Appleton, 1897. 8+474 p. pors. D. cl., $2. [678]
- C: N: Oudinot, Duke of Reggio, was one of the most distinguished of Napoleon's marshals; he was instrumental in winning the battle of Zurich, was present under Massena at the defence of Genoa; he afterward became commander-in-chief of grenadiers, winning with his famous division the battle of Ostrolenka, and deciding the fate of at least three great battles—Austerlitz, Friedland, and Wagram. On the abdication of Napoleon he went over to the new government, and was made a peer by Louis xviii. The marshal's wife was much with her husband in the field, and draws vivid pictures of his eventful career. The book comes down to about 1830.

- One of the exciting causes of this work was a pamphlet by Prof. Harnack, of the Berlin University, presenting the reasons for abolishing our Apostles' creed as a disgrace to our present century. It upholds Christianity as the work of God, by aiming to show that all scientific discoveries, so far from contradicting it, demonstrate its divine origin. It obtains its title, "Forty dollars and the boots," from an opening incident, which is warmly discussed by a number of persons. The discussions are offered as proof of the fallacies of many arguments and so-called facts.

- Of this work, which is a severe criticism of some of the statements made by E. S. Purcell in his recent "Life of Cardinal Manning," the translator says: "No Catholic could write more sympathetically of the subject than does M. de Pressensé, who, even in his comments on religious questions, says very little, almost nothing indeed, to which a Catholic can take exception; while his book presents the advantage of being not only a refutation, but at the same time a biography as well."

The author is president of the American Chirological Society. Paris is his home, but he has travelled and investigated in all parts of the world. For twenty-five years he has made a close study of hand-reading. He considers palmistry a science and supports his theories by many facts. The eighteen chapters of the book explain minutely and with many illustrations and diagrams the various lines and marks of the palm of the hand, the shape and peculiarities of the hand, fingers, finger-tips, nails, etc., showing the deductions relative to life and character that may be drawn from them.

This handbook is of the same general scope as the "Handbook of the Boston Public Library." The intention is to furnish such an account of the new building of the Library of Congress as may prove of interest to the general reader, and at the same time serve as a convenient guide to actual visitors. To this latter end a system of headings and subheadings has been introduced, and the building has been described throughout in the order in which a visitor might naturally walk through it. Criticism has been avoided in the general description, but a brief survey of the artistic qualities of the architecture, sculpture, and painting is given in Mr. Caffin's essays.

Four girls left orphans at a very young age were sent to their mother's school-teacher, who adopted them. This school-teacher dies seven years later and leaves the girls one thousand dollars and a farm-house. While at the farm-house they meet Hero Chevening, a young girl, tired of living with a cranky grandmother, who runs away with Barbara, one of the four sisters, who is writing a book. Why the book is unsuccessful and the experiences the girls have complete an interesting story for young readers.

An eccentric millionaire and philanthropist, wearied of systematic giving to charitable institutions, determines to indulge a whim of going on a spree by proxy. He finds an interesting young man in a cheap restaurant, and conveys to him a cheque of three thousand dollars, with one stipulation only, that the young man, at the end of twelve months, is to report in person how he has spent the money. The hero spends three months in Paris, in which time he succeeds in ruining himself; he returns to America, resumes his former work, and writes a successful play on his own adventures.

Williams, S: Wells. A history of China: being the historical chapters from "The middle kingdom"; with a concluding chapter narrating recent events by F: Wells Williams. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1897. c. '82-'97. 14+474 p. il. O. cl., $2. [715]

Though written half a century ago, "The middle kingdom" still remains a classic on the subject, and the only important history of China in English we as yet possess. To provide—at least temporarily—for the wants of the many readers showing an awakening interest in the affairs of Asia, it has been deemed advisable to reissue the historical chapters of "The middle kingdom," adding thereto a summary of the more important occurrences that have marked the dozen years of Chinese history since that work was last revised.

Wines, F: Howard, and Koren, J: The liquor problem in its legislative aspects: an investigation made under the direction of C: W. Eliot, Seth Low, and Ja. C. Carter. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1897. c. 7+342 p. D. cl., $1.25. [716]

A committee of fifty prominent men, representing all the professions and almost every dignified calling in life, several years ago organized themselves into a body to investigate the liquor problem. They expended more than $6000 in making a direct first-hand investigation, by trained experts, of the workings of prohibitory and license laws of various kinds in Maine, Iowa, South Carolina, Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Missouri. Definite local information is set down as obtained in each of these states. This investigation extended over two years of work, and it includes the result of almost every kind of experiment that has been made to restrict or to prohibit the traffic.

Work, Edgar Whittaker, D.D. Great moments in the life of Paul: a series of lecture-sermons. Dayton, O., W. J. Shuey, 1897. c. 2-200 p. D. cl., 75 c. [718]

A series of studies in the life of St. Paul. The seven subjects are: Holding the clothes at a martyr's death; The sunstroke; A great moment fifteen days long; Five men in a prayer-meeting; A change of letters—Saul becomes Paul; By the riverside—The heart of the purple seller; At the university; Chained to a Roman soldier.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 6, 1897.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

GRADES OF SALESMEN.

IN all book-stores there must necessarily be salesmen of various grades of efficiency. Even if the firm could afford to keep only salesmen fitted for their positions by superior training and wide experience, there must still be at the end of the line the juniors waiting to acquire experience and to fit themselves for promotion. All those, however, to whom the selling of goods is entrusted, should be more or less well posted on the ordinary details of their calling. At the head of the staff of salesman should be one or two—as many more, in fact, as the house can afford to keep—who are past-masters in their profession. So equipped, the store may consider itself ready for any emergency. The best salesman should reserve himself for the best customers, or for those who require skilled attendance. There are many customers, whose patronage it is desirable to cultivate, who are likely to buy less than they otherwise would if they are waited upon by a salesman who lacks the knowledge and ability to circumspectly direct their choice. It should therefore be the rule of the house that such customers are put in the charge of the best-trained salesman on the floor. The junior should be warned to keep this fact in mind, and to leave such customers to those who may be more competent to serve them than he. If the senior salesman is busy with a customer of whom his junior cannot relieve him, the junior salesman may offer to wait upon the customer until his senior is disengaged. When he is relieved the junior should withdraw without ostentation, or any display of feeling that might disconcert or offend the customer. It is in the interest of the business that this should be done, and that perfect harmony pervade every act. If the junior waits upon a customer who asks for books which he does not know, or is unable to find readily, he should call upon the senior salesman either to help him or to take his place. It will be readily understood that to be able to follow such a line of action the most kindly feeling must inspire all concerned, and that much depends upon the senior salesman to make and maintain such feeling. The senior, therefore, besides being a thoroughly-posted bookman, must also be a gentleman. He must have tact in handling those under him, correcting kindly those who are lax, and encouraging those who are faithful. He must be quick to discover when it is necessary for him to step in and help out a slow and deficient clerk, or when it is better to stand by and allow one of his juniors, who may be having an unexpected run of luck with an exacting customer, to finish the transaction single-handed. To hesitate in the first instance might cause a loss to the house; to be precipitate in the second case might unnecessarily create bad feeling in the junior who, unjustly, perhaps, might jump to the conclusion that his senior was trying to rob him of credit which he considered his due for good work.

The senior should enjoy the confidence and cordial support of his employers. If he cannot win these the sooner he changes his employers the better it will be for all concerned. The firm that reposes confidence in its senior salesman, having proved that he is intent upon caring for the interests of his employer, will not be likely to expect him personally to lead in the amount of sales made each day, though some are short-sighted enough to make this a standard of merit. Such a course, as we shall attempt to point out in another article, is apt to cripple the senior salesman's real usefulness to the store. The efficient senior salesman's chief duty is to watch that customers are properly waited upon; that those under him are prompt and diligent in the fulfilment of their duties, and to render them timely aid in making sales; and, lastly, to wait upon such customers as may demand his personal attention, or those whom it may be wise to cultivate himself. In assisting his juniors he should as much as possible only guide, not carry them, and he should be slow to take credit for his suggestions to them. The senior salesman who persistently claims credit for work done by those under him, or who obtrudes his superiority over his associates, is an undesirable store help. He is apt to breed discontent, and to disturb the discipline necessary to keep a large staff of employees in order. A senior salesman with such a disposition, and junior salesmen who will not profit either by experience or wise counsel, should be induced to seek other fields of usefulness. It would be useless to waste either temper or time upon either of them.

The salesmen should not be called upon to do work other than that connected with waiting upon customers, nor should they have other responsibilities. The occupation of a salesman is a trying and fatiguing one and requires all his energy to properly perform it. It is unwise to expect other work of him, for by doing it the salesman is apt to meet the customer fatigued, or with his mind filled with other things. Of course, dusting the books and arranging the shelves in his department is legitimate work for the salesman, and it should be insisted upon that he does it regularly and promptly. On dull or rainy days the salesmen should go over the entire stock in the store indeed, it is excellent practice for salesmen to pair off in this work—that is, while certain ones watch for customers one morning, the others for an hour or longer, if there is nothing to hinder, go over the stock. If this can be done regularly it will keep the staff fairly well posted on the stock and its location.

BOOKS FOR LENT AND THE EASTER SEASON.

PUBLISHERS have not taken advantage of the lateness of the Easter season but are pushing their lines out as early as possible. As usual, the publishers of religious books have either made entirely new books for this season or have dressed old standards in appropriate garb to make them suitable as Easter gifts. Prominent among those who have made special provision for Easter books and novelties are E. P. Dutton & Co. They call attention to a new book of Lenten reading, made up from unpublished manuscripts of Phillips Brooks, entitled "The More Abundant Life"; "Seven Glad Days," by Irene E. Jerome, a handsome color book with borders of flowers, birds, and butterflies, surrounding text appropriate to the season; "Now Christ Is Risen," an Easter service, put up in white cloth; "Vesper Songs, containing the Magnificat, Nunc Dimittis, and Deus Misereatur"; "Te Deum Laudamus"; and a new edition of "The Gate of Paradise," all illustrated and partly printed in color, and neatly and attractively bound. Besides these they have a long list of Easter cards and novelties, many of them entirely new.

Prang & Co.'s new booklets, cards, and novelties for Easter are remarkable for their rich floral decorations. The most attractive of their new booklets is the one entitled "Golden Daffodils," the five pages of which are decorated with graceful groups of the stately daffodil in rich colors. Their other booklets are entitled "The Angel of Prayer," a poem by Bessie Gray, decorated with violets; "Morning-Glories," compiled by Catherine L. Connor, and decorated by charming groups of the flower from which the booklet takes its name; "Blossoms of Time," the decorations of which are apple blossoms, lilacs, and violets; "Fleur de Lis," rich in the color of the flower after which the booklet is named, and "Easter Morn," by Josephine Rand, a charming booklet decorated with lilies. In the single cards and novelties many of the designs in the booklets are repeated, though a large number of them are original in combination.

Thomas Nelson and Sons, the Oxford University Press, (Henry Frowde,) James Pott & Co., Thomas Whittaker, and E. & J. B. Young & Co. also call attention to their various lines of Bibles and Prayer-Books in special bindings, and to their books suitable for reading during Lent and for gifts at Easter time.

BIBLIOGRAPHY AT THE BRUSSELS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE International Exposition at Brussels, to be held this year, will have a section devoted to the sciences, in which the science of bibliography is to be put in a prominent place. Bibliography will be known as Class 86, and the committee which has it in charge make a special appeal for a full representation under three divisions:

(A.) Bibliology; or, the history of books.—In this department will be placed manuscripts remarkable for their age; incunabula; works printed on rich materials, such as vellum, silk, etc.; celebrated editions, or such as present specially interesting features; ex-libris; printers' marks; fine bindings; bibliographical curiosities; and documents relating to the history of books.

(B.) Library economy; or, the preservation of books.—Matter connected with the building, arrangement, and administration of libraries; library supplies and appliances; plans, descriptions, photographs, models, etc.; publications relating to libraries, reports, statistics, by-laws, society publications and all publications relating to them.

(C.) Bibliography; or, the description and classification of books.—This department will be devoted to bibliographical works and publications, bibliographical systems, reports, title-slips, their material and models of cumulative holders and binders; statistics of books; works, maps, and pictures relating to scientific and literary productions concerning the library movement; plans for teaching bibliography, and collections or documents relating to competitions or special wants.

It is planned to make a most interesting exhibit. All the objects placed in this section will be received gratis and guarded with the greatest care, and special facilities will be provided for carrying them.

NATIONAL BUREAU OF STATISTICS.

THE BUREAU OF STATISTICS of the State Department expects to extend its field of usefulness this year owing to the liberal spirit which Congress has manifested toward its wants. The requests for larger printing appropriations have been granted without hesitation, upon representations by Secretary Olney that the business men of the country were particularly interested in the publications.

The work in hand this year, it is expected, will yield results far more valuable than ever before realized. The great feature of the reports will be those coming in answer to the general instruction to consuls of last July to submit statements of the exact trade conditions in different countries, and the compilation, which is now in the hands of the printer and soon to be issued, will be full of valuable trade information.

OBITUARY NOTES.

SAMUEL HARVEY REYNOLDS, author of "The Ruin of Ancient Thebes," and editor of a number of the Clarendon Press editions, died in Biarnitz, February 7, aged sixty-five years.

EMIL LAURENT, better known, perhaps, by his pseudonym "Colombey," librarian to the Chamber of Deputies, died in Paris, January 28. He was an authority on sociological subjects.

REV. FRANCIS JACOX, the Shakespearian scholar and commentator, died at St. John's Wood, aged seventy-one years. His "Shakespeare Diversions," two series, were issued in 1875 and 1877. Among his other works we may mention "Secular Annotations on Scripture Texts," two series (1870); "Aspects of Authorship, or, book-marks and book-makers" (1872); and "At Nightfall and Midnight" (1873).

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

NANSEN is to receive the degree of doctor of science from Cambridge University this month.

CLARK RUSSELL has written a new novel, which he entitles "A Noble Haul," that has, of course, the inevitable flavor of the sea.

PROF. C. G. D. ROBERTS has taken up his residence in New York, and has associated himself with the editorial management of The Illustrated American.

ALPHONSE DAUDET's next novel, "Soutien de Famille," is almost finished. A popular edition of his works in parts is now being issued in Paris. Each part costs 12 centimes, or two cents.

M. WILSON, the son-in-law of Jules Grévy, who by his corrupt practices caused the retirement of his father-in-law, and came near putting an end to the presidency, now threatens to publish his revelations. It is said they will cause more scandal than even the Panama affair.

RICHARD WATSON GILDER is soon to bring out a new volume of poems. It will be called "For the Country," and will be especially patriotic in its contents, embracing poems on Washington, Lincoln, Sheridan, Sherman, and other heroic themes.

I. ZANGWILL has just left England to explore some of the sites of the historic romances in his new book, "Dreamers of the Ghetto," which cannot be ready before the fall, if then. He will ultimately go on to Egypt and Palestine, and will lecture at Jerusalem on Easter Sunday, which is also Passover.

MR. GLADSTONE is about to add another series of "Gleanings" to the seven volumes so entitled, which represented work done between 1843-79. The initial volume of the new series will be made up of essays mostly on theological subjects, and may be looked for during the spring. John Murray will be the publisher.

CANON AINGER announces that he is preparing for publication in book form a number of scattered lectures and papers of his on Charles Lamb and his circle. Some of his material has been known to a certain extent in England, he having delivered a lecture more than once on "Charles Lamb in Hertfordshire," but to most readers the book will be entirely new.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Dr. J. Chalmers DaCosta was elected Clinical Professor of Surgery. Dr. DaCosta has been connected with the college for many years, and has recently been Demonstrator of Surgery and Chief of the Out-Patients' Department. The new appointment is made in recognition of his long service and valuable contributions to surgical literature.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Books and Bookselling is the title by which the English book-trade journal Bookselling will hereafter be known. Beginning with the March issue the journal will appear promptly on the first of each month from its new home at 9 Carthusian Street, Charterhouse Square, E. C.

THE publication of Modern Art, which for the past two years has been issued by L. Prang & Co., of Boston, has passed into the hands of J. M. Bowles, who has been the editor of this excellent periodical from the beginning. Boston will continue to be the place of publication.

Current Literature has removed to 55 Liberty Street, New York. Mr. Cable's department in Current Literature will begin with the April number. The gossip of authors, which has been one of the prominent features of the magazine, will be edited by Edward S. Van Zile, author of "The Manhattaners" and other stories.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Newsdealers', Booksellers', and Stationers' Clerks' Association has been incorporated without capital. The incorporators are: M. R. Clapp, D. J. Delong, and A. H. Pokarry. The association is organized for social purposes.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Commonwealth Publishing Company has filed articles of incorporation. The capital stock is $15,000. The incorporators are: Edwin T. Durham, of Cincinnati, G. M. Thrasher, of Covington, and Alex. Oldham, of Newport.

CLINTON, ILL.—J. D. Rodgers, bookseller, has confessed judgments for $179.

KEOKUK, IA.—C. P. Birge, of the Keokuk Book Co., has sold out to J. N. Collier.

MT. VERNON, TEX.—Z. Carson, bookseller, has been succeeded by Carson & Seay.

NEW YORK CITY.—Daniel Appleton & Co. have found it convenient to become incorporated, under the law of the State of New York, as a company under the title of D. Appleton & Company, with a capital of $2,000,000. The directors are William W. Appleton, Daniel Appleton, Edward D. Appleton, Daniel S. Appleton, Charles A. Appleton, and Robert Appleton, all of New York City. This involves no change in the management or the ownership of the business. As in the case of The Macmillan Company and Harper & Brothers, the change is simply a formal one.

NEW YORK CITY.—William Beverley Harison is now settled in his handsome new quarters at 3 and 5 West 18th Street. He has largely increased facilities, and a stock-room, 30x80 feet, filled with all kinds of educational publications, classified and arranged so that customers may go directly to the shelves. Mr. Harison has also extended his facilities in reference to school supplies, maps, globes, charts, etc., of which he now keeps one of the most complete lines in the city.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—In the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia on the 2d inst. the F. A. Davis Company, publishers, confessed judgment to W. E. Gorgas, cashier of the Harrisburg National Bank, for $32,500 on a promissory note dated February 27.

READING, PA.—H. T. Frueauff, who has been engaged for the past ten years in the second-hand book business, has closed his store, "The Book Antiquary," packed his books, and removed to Bethlehem, Pa. He will for the present devote himself to teaching German and French to those who wish to prepare themselves for a college or university course.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The John L. Boland Book and Stationery Company, one of the largest wholesale and retail establishments in the Southwest, will within the next sixty days move its stock to the Hitchcock Building on Fourth Street. This is a modern seven-story building equipped with every convenience. It has a frontage on three different streets, and the fronts being composed largely of plate-glass makes the lighting facilities magnificent. Mr. Boland states that he leased this building in order to better meet the requirements of his increasing business.

THORNTON, TEX.—F. B. Sanders, bookseller, has been succeeded by Blackman & Smith.

WINSTON, N. C.—Justice & Browder, booksellers, have dissolved.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

TEMPLE SCOTT'S "Book Sales of the Year" will be published in England by George Bell & Sons, and in this country by The Macmillan Co. The volume for 1896 will be almost twice the size of the previous volume, and will be ready at the end of the month. The price is 15s. net.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Banks & Brothers, Albany, N.Y., and New York City, Recent law-books, including the American, British, and Canadian reports, prepared by H. A. La Moure, of the New York State Law Library. (100 p. 16°).—Edward Howell, 28 Church St., Liverpool, Eng., History, topography, and philosophy. (No. 110, 967 titles).—A. C. McClurg & Co., 117-121 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Imported books, mainly in fine bindings and of the best editions. (No. 17, 42 p. 16°).—Maggs Brothers, 159 Church St., Paddington Green, London, Engraved British portraits, and engravings and autographs. (No. 144, 1653 titles).—Pickering & Chatto, 66 Haymarket, London, Old and rare books. (1740+2946 titles. 1s.).—Bernard Quaritch, 15 Piccadilly, London, Orientalia, comprising the libraries of eminent orientalists and other scholars. (No. 167, 1227 titles).—Walter T. Spencer, 27 New Oxford St., London, Miscellaneous. (No. 76, 1095 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JAMES POTT & Co. have just ready "A Way that Seemeth Right—an examination of 'Christian Science,'" by Dean Hart, of Denver, Col.

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. have nearly ready an enlarged edition of Marshall Mather's "John Ruskin: his life and teaching." Mr. Mather has written an introduction for this issue, in which a bibliography has also been included.

HENRY K. VAN SICLEN, 259 W. 44th Street, New York, announces that he has left a few sets of "Old Landmarks of New York," reproductions from pen-and-ink drawings by Mrs. Eliza Greator, whose death in Paris, February 9, has just been reported.

"THE EPIC OF PAUL," to be published this spring by the Funk & Wagnalls Company, is by William Cleaver Wilkinson, who also wrote "The Epic of Saul," of which the new volume will be a companion volume. In a former note we inadvertently gave the name of Prof. Franklin Johnson as the author.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY announce that the first large edition of "Phroso" has been entirely exhausted. The second edition is now on the press, and they hope to receive it from the binders in about ten days. They announce also that the second edition will be somewhat superior to the first in quality of paper, improved presswork, and various other respects.

"WELLESLEY LYRICS" is the title of a pretty little volume of college verse that is issued from Wellesley College by Miss Cordelia C. Nevers, of the Wellesley class of '96. The collection of poems and verses by the Wellesley students and alumnae is prettily bound in white and blue, the college colors, and is finished with an introduction by Miss Alice Freeman Palmer, Ph.D. It makes an attractive Wellesley souvenir or gift-book.

LAMSON, WOLFFE & Co. will publish at once "The Merry Maid of Arcadie, His Lordship, and other stories," by Mrs. Burton Harrison; also, Prince Wolkonsky's lectures on "Russian Literature," which have been for some time in preparation. They have nearly ready "Zuleka, or, the adventures of an American gentleman at the court of Dorala," by Mr. Clinton Ross; "At the Queen's Mercy," a story of adventure the scene of which is laid in Africa, by Mabel Fuller Blodgett; and a story entitled "A Hero in Homespun: a tale of the loyal South," by Rev. W. E. Barton, minister of the Shawmut Congregational Church.

THE annual dinner of the Booksellers' League will be held at the St. Denis Hotel, New York, on Tuesday evening, April 6. The following committee will have the matter in charge: C. E. Butler, Frederick D. Lacy, and J. N. Wing. Mr. Lacy is chairman. It is expected that there will be several notable speakers present, and that the occasion will be memorable in the list of trade dinners. Tickets may be had of any member of the committee, who may be addressed as follows: Charles E. Butler, care of Brentano's, Frederick D. Lacy, care of G. P. Putnam's Sons, and J. N. Wing, care of Charles Scribner's Sons, all of New York.

JOHN LANE has just published an edition of Walton and Cotton's "The Compleat Angler," embellished with two photogravure portraits, and nearly two hundred and fifty illustrations by Edmund H. New. It contains biographies of the authors and critical essays on their works, besides copious notes of an historical, literary, and scientific character, written by Richard Le Gallienne. The text of this reissue has been carefully reprinted from the edition of 1676. It has the addition of an angler's calendar of notable piscatorial and literary events contributed by "Hi-Regan," author of "How and Where to Fish in Ireland."

THE CENTURY COMPANY have offered a first prize of $150 and a number of smaller prizes for the best answers to 150 test questions covering a varied range of information. The complete set of questions can be answered only with the aid of the Century Dictionary and Cyclopædia, and the competition is thus restricted to users of those two works. A second competition, however, has been inaugurated for those who seek other sources of reference. In this a supplementary prize of $500 will be awarded to the person who succeeds without the aid of the Century Dictionary and Cyclopædia and with the help of any ten other published works of reference in answering 135, or ninety per cent. of the complete set of questions.

AN amusing incident in literary history occurred recently in connection with Dr. Paul Carus's story, "Karma." The little tale originally appeared in The Open Court, and having struck there the fancy of Count Leo Tolstol, was translated by that author into Russian. Everything Tolstol publishes is immediately turned into French—and so was "Karma." A gentleman who was scouring the literary main in search of booty for English markets lighted upon the little craft which now bore the name of Tolstol on its stern, and towed it into port at the office of The International, a monthly magazine in Chicago, but three doors from The Open Court. There the story was translated back into English and appeared in the November number. It was not until recently, long after the appearance of the Japanese edition of "Karma," that the error was discovered.

F. W. DOUBLEDAY, who for nearly twenty years has been connected with Charles Scribner's Sons, acting for a time as manager of The Bookbuyer, and ever since its origin as manager of the subscription and business department of Scribner's Magazine, has severed his connection with the Scribners to become vice-president of the S. S. McClure Company. Mr. Doubleday will also join forces with the McClure Company in the establishing of a book publishing business, to be known as The Doubleday & McClure Co., and to begin active publishing in the fall. In the meantime, Mr. Doubleday's attention will be chiefly devoted to the interests of McClure's Magazine, the circulation of which in a few years has grown to 275,000 monthly. A. F. Jaccaci also, formerly art editor of Scribner's Magazine, has now become art editor of McClure's Magazine, and special efforts will be made to add to the artistic attraction of this successful magazine. We are quite certain that his many friends will join us in congratulating Mr. Doubleday on this step forward in life. Mr. Doubleday will be succeeded in his position at Charles Scribner's Sons by W. D. Moffat, for many years the popular business manager of The Bookbuyer. Mr. Moffat has been steadily making friends by his unostentatious courtesy and manly qualities, as well as by his ability and knowledge. It naturally forces itself upon one's attention that a house that can count such men upon its roll is not only favored but must possess in itself extraordinary qualities to raise them.

FOREIGN NOTES.

CANON LIDDON'S "Life of Dr. Pusey" will be completed in the fall by the publication of the fourth volume by Longmans, Green & Co.

SPENCER BLACKETT, who is on his way to this country on a business tour, has been offered and has accepted a seat on the Board of Directors of Kegan Paul & Co.

THE life of the late Lord Tennyson, by his son, the present lord, has gone to press and will be published on October 6. It will be in two volumes of good size.

"WAR, FAMINE, AND OUR FOOD-SUPPLY" is the title of a new book by R. B. Marston, to be published at once. The work, which will be illustrated, is on the lines of Mr. Marston's article, "Corn Stores for War-Time," which appeared in the Nineteenth Century for February, 1896, and attracted a good deal of attention abroad as well as in England.

H. S. NICHOLS & Co., 3 Soho Square, London, solicit subscriptions for "The Secret Memoirs of the Duc de Roquelaure," to be privately printed in four volumes uniform with the "Memoirs of Casanova," published some time ago in 12 volumes. The edition will be 1010 copies, 500 of which are for America. The first volume is ready for delivery; the second will be ready in December, and the last two will be published next year.

THE title of the hitherto unpublished work by the late Sir Richard Burton, which Hutchinson & Co., of London, are to issue immediately, is "Human Sacrifice Among the Sephardim or Eastern Jews, or, the murder of Tomaso." The book is in two parts, the first being devoted to a general study of the Jews in England, Palestine, and elsewhere, while the second part deals with the alleged rite of human sacrifice amongst the Sephardim. It was written from material collected by the author when consul at Damascus.

T. FISHER UNWIN'S spring announcements include "The Works of Charles Keene," with introduction and notes by Joseph Pennell; "The Printers of Basle," being the autobiographies of Felix and Thomas Platter; "The Welsh People," their origin, language, history, and present characteristics, edited by Prof. John Rhys; Taine's "Travelling Notes in Southern France"; "Turgeneff and His French Circle," a series of letters to Flaubert, George Sand, Zola, etc., edited by H. Halpérine-Kaminsky; "South Africa as It Is," by F. Reginald Statham; "The Inner Life of the House of Commons"; "Communism in Middle Europe in the Time of the Reformation," from the German of Carl Kautsky; "Frederic Engels, Co-founder of Scientific Socialism"; "A Village Politician," the life-story of John Buckley; "The Life of Sir Henry Parkes"; and "St. Mark's Indebtedness to St. Matthew," by F. P. Badham.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

MARCH 11, 12, 3 P.M.—Miscellaneous. (750 lots.)—Bangs.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

 In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

 Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY'S NEW BOOKS.

COLUMBIA PRESS.

Municipal Problems.

By FRANK J. GOODNOW, A.M., LL.D., Professor of Administrative Law in Columbia University, author of "Municipal Home Rule, a Study in Administration." 16mo, cloth, $1.50.

"We question if any other book before has achieved quite the important service to what may be termed theoretic municipalism. . . . One that all those interested in municipal matters should read. . . . Moderate in tone, sound in argument, and impartial in its conclusions, it is a work that deserves to carry weight."—London Liberal.

"Here is without doubt one of the most trenchant and scholarly contributions to political science of recent writing, remarkable for analytical power and lucidity of statement."—Chicago Evening Post.

The Port of Missing Ships, and Other Stories of the Sea.

By JOHN R. SPEERS. Cloth, 12mo. Nearly ready.

A volume of sea-stories containing besides the one which gives its title to the book, "The Story of a Second Mate" and "The Skipper of the Nancy C." It is hoped that readers who have had their interest roused by "On Many Seas" will find it sustained by these stories which give another view of the Sailor's life.

The First Systematic Scientific Study of Domestic Service.

By LUCY M. SALMON, Professor of History at Vassar College. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

All who are interested in the study of Domestic Service should read Miss Salmon's new book. It deals with such topics as the following: The History of Domestic Service in this Country; The Wages Paid to Domestic Servants; Difficulties in Domestic Service from the Standpoint of the Employer and of the Servants; Advantages and Disadvantages in Domestic Service; Doubtful Remedies, Possible Remedies, and General Principles underlying them.

A pamphlet containing the Preface and a full Table of Contents of Miss Salmon's book will be sent to any one who will send his address to the publishers, THE MACMILLAN COMPANY.

IN PREPARATION.

American History,

As Told by Contemporaries.

By ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, Harvard University.

In four volumes.

Vol. I. Era of Colonization (1492-1689). Ready in April.

Vol. II. Building of the Republic (1689-1783). In preparation.

Vol. III. National Expansion (1783-1845).

Vol. IV. Welding of the Nation (1846-1896).

This series is made up entirely from the original sources of American history, the records and narratives of men who witnessed and shared in the events which they describe. Extracts, long enough in each case to give some idea of the writer's style, are arranged in a logical sequence, so as to make up a general account of the times from the first voyages to the present day. To each volume is prefixed a Practical Introduction on the use of sources by teachers, students, pupils, libraries, and readers, with a bibliography of the most valuable sources and collections.

On Many Seas.

By FREDERICK BENTON WILLIAMS. Edited by WM. S. BOOTH. Cloth, 8vo. Third Edition. $1.50.

"A Sailor's life drawn as it never has been drawn before."—The Providence News.

"Every line . . . hits the mark."—The New York Tribune.

"The charm of it is its simplicity and truth."—The New York Herald.

First Edition issued Jan. 20, 1897; Second, Jan. 20; Third, Jan. 25; Fourth, Jan. 30; Fifth, Feb. 8; Sixth, Feb. 15; Seventh, Feb. 27; Eighth Edition in Press.

ON THE FACE OF THE WATERS.

By Mrs. F. A. STEEL. Cloth, $1.50.

"A novel of quite extraordinary value and vitality."—The Dial.

"Keen, incisive language that holds the attention irresistibly."—The New York Sun.

"Five hundred thrilling pages."—Chicago Tribune.

"A strong novel, strong in its dramatic handling of heroic issues, stronger still in its calm veracity."—New York Tribune.

"Truly, not many men could have done this thing, and, to our thinking, no other woman whatsoever."—The National Observer.

"The novel is strong in its plot, in its characters, and in its grasp on a multiplicity of historical facts."—The Outlook.

"Mrs. Steel has surely made a picturesque and powerful story, rich in the color demanded by the scenes and characters, and very atmospheric and full of sympathy. . . . A work of great charm and power, and of high literary quality."—Hartford Courant.

William Penn's Plan for the United States of Europe.

IN 1693, one hundred years before Kant wrote his "Eternal Peace," William Penn published a remarkable "Essay Towards the Present and Future Peace of Europe," proposing a general union of the nations of Europe with a federal parliament as the only sure means of peace. This great essay, almost forgotten, is now added to the Old South Leaflets, being No. 75 in the series. The interest in international arbitration is so great that this essay should be read everywhere. Price, 5 cents a copy; $4 a hundred.

Three volumes of the Old South Leaflets now ready. Price, $1.50 each. Send for complete lists.

Hypnotism,

And Its Application to Practical Medicine. By OTTO GEORG WETTERSTRAND, Member of the Society for Swedish Physicians at Stockholm, Corresponding Member of the Society for Psychical Research, London, etc. Authorized Translation from the German edition together with Medical Letters on Hypno-Suggestion, etc. By HENRIK G. PETERSEN, M.D., Member of the Société d'Hypnologie et de Psychologie, Paris, etc. 8vo, $2.00.

Braithwaite's Retrospect.

A half-yearly journal of Practical Medicine and Surgery, containing a retrospective view of every discovery and practical improvement in the medical science, abstracted from the leading medical journals of Europe and America. Edited by JAMES BRAITHWAITE, M.D., Surgeon to the Leeds Hospital for Women and Children. 12mo, subscription per year, $2.50; per single part, $1.50.

NEARLY READY:

The God-Idea of the Ancients;

Or, Sex in Religion. By ELIZA BURT GAMBLE, author of "The Evolution of Woman." 8vo, $2.00.

Mrs. Gamble's purpose has been not only to furnish a brief outline of religious growth, but to show the effect which each of the two forces, female and male, has had upon the development of our present God-idea. Her investigation of the subject has served to accentuate the conclusions arrived at in her earlier book relative to the inheritance of each of the two lines of the sexual demarcation.

NOW READY!The American Catalogue, 1890=1895

The present issue of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE covers the period July 1, 1890, to June 30, 1895. It is in two divisions, of which the first contains the author-and-title alphabet, and the second the subject alphabet, lists of government and state publications, publications of societies, books in series, etc.

One volume, half leather, $15.00 ; in sheets, $12.50.

The edition is 1250 copies only, and there will be no reissue.

"Without question the most perfect trade bibliography with which we are acquainted."—London Bookseller.

The Annual American Catalogue, 1896

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE for 1896 contains :

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1896.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1896.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same, in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1896.

This volume forms the SECOND ANNUAL SUPPLEMENT to the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1890-95, now issuing.

One volume, half leather, $3.50 ; in sheets, $3.00.

The edition as usual is a limited one. The volumes for 1890 to 1893 are all out of print, and orders for those of 1894 and 1895, to insure supply, should be promptly filled.

The annual volume of The English Catalogue for 1896 is also ready. The volume for this year differs from its predecessors in this respect, that it gives the full title of every book, instead of as hitherto abbreviated titles, with duplicate, and in many cases triplicate, references, under one general alphabet.

One volume, 8vo, paper, $1.50 ; bound with the "Annual American Catalogue," half leather, $5.

The Annual Literary Index, 1896

Including Periodicals, American and English, Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Special Bibliographies and Necrology of Authors. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX for 1896 not only covers the full range of periodicals included in Poole's Index, as no other publication does, but includes the "essay index," continuing the "A. L. A. Index to General Literature," an index to events of 1896, which is practically an index to the daily papers, a list of bibliographies of the year, and a necrology of authors, etc. The volume is the fifth annual supplement to Poole's Index and to the "A. L. A. Index to General Literature." It is the complement of THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books published in 1896, and with it makes a complete record of the literary product of the year. It is thus the most comprehensive tool in the way of a guide to recent literature furnished for library and trade purposes. The edition is limited.

One volume, cloth, uniform with Poole's Index and the A. L. A. Index, $3.50, net.
